

Nurses for Excellence

Our Hospital Our Excellence Our Choice

We are a group of employees who formally oppose unionization. We believe that unions are divisive and intentionally tear apart good working relationships among staff to impose their view and their agenda. The mission, vision and values at St Jude do not align with the deceitful practices of unions. We are dedicated to educating employees about the truths of unions and supporting each other in ways that make a difference in patient care such as shared governance and professional practice. We do not believe that we need anyone (especially people who are not nurses) to speak for us as highly educated professionals. We have all the tools as professionals that we need to work together with our management to achieve high level collaboration and elevation of our practice and excellence in patient care. It is our hospital, our excellence and our choice to say NO to the union.
